

Notice to AJC Subscribers Regarding Fraudulent Renewal Notices

This notice is to alert you that we have become aware of a nationwide scam that has affected subscribers to many publications, including The Atlanta Journal-Constitution.

A company that is not affiliated with The Atlanta Journal-Constitution and that is not authorized to solicit subscriptions or accept payments on our behalf has been mailing unauthorized notices to customers urging them to renew their subscriptions. The rates on the fraudulent notices are generally higher than available rates.

We want to protect you, our customer, by advising you the best way to identify these unauthorized notices, and ask that you DO NOT pay the unauthorized subscription renewal.

Here is more information to help you identify fraudulent renewal notices:

- The company may operate under many different names. You could see names including Associated Publishers Network, Readers Payment Service, publisherpayment.com, unitedpubex.com
- The unauthorized company may operate under other names including: Associated Publishers Subscription Services, Magazine Billing Network, Orbital Publishing Group, Publishers Billing Exchange and United Publishers Service
- Notices may reference a Renewal Notice, Notice of Renewal, or New Order and include a request to make checks payable to a company other than The Atlanta Journal-Constitution.
- The unauthorized renewal offer directs payments to a PO Box on Lemmon Drive in Reno, Nevada, a PO Box in White City, Oregon or 850 S Boulder Hwy in Henderson, Nevada.

Legitimate notices will direct subscription payments for The Atlanta Journal-Constitution to PO Box 742625, Cincinnati, Ohio 45274-2625 or to 223 Perimeter Center Pkwy, Atlanta, GA 30346.

Please be aware that this is an industry wide problem that has affected many publishers and is not isolated to The Atlanta Journal-Constitution. We are working with state and federal authorities to stop this unauthorized activity.

Please be aware that we offer automatic renewal and that is the best way to avoid being deceived by a fraudulent renewal notice. To enroll in automatic renewal, please call AJC customer service at 1-800-933-9771.

If you receive a suspicious renewal notice that does not appear to be from The Atlanta Journal-Constitution, do not respond. Feel free to direct any questions to subscriptionfraudalert@coxinc.com or call us at 1-800-933-9771.

Thank you.
